CORSA® PERFORMANCE ADDS XTREME SOUND LEVEL TO FORD RAPTOR PRODUCT LINE

BEREA, Ohio – Owners of 2011-2014 Ford Raptors can now experience a more aggressive exhaust note with CORSA® Performance's new Xtreme sound level Cat-Back exhaust system.

CORSA's new Xtreme sound level Cat-Back exhaust system, with resonator delete kit, is designed with a deep, throaty growl to enhance the driving experience under acceleration. It features CORSA's exclusive patented Reflective Sound Cancellation® (RSC®) technology, which dials out the low frequencies that cause drone, resulting in cleaner sound and greater performance.

"Through numerous interactions and demand from our consumers, our engineers have worked diligently to deliver our most aggressive sounding exhaust systems for Raptor truck owners," said Craig R. Kohrs, VP and General Manager, TMG Performance Products. "Our new Xtreme sound level matches the bold appearance and styling of the Ford Raptor and has flow bench-tested at a 35 percent gain in exhaust flow versus a stock system."

CORSA offers the Xtreme sound level as a Single Side Exit exhaust system with sleek Twin 4-inch Pro-Series Tips, for 133-inch (part numbers #14759/14759BLK) and 144-inch (part numbers #14760/14760BLK) wheelbases, in either polished or custom black PVD-coated tips, laser etched with the CORSA logo.

CORSA's Cat-Back exhaust system is manufactured in the U.S.A. from premium stainless steel and is 50 state emissions legal. Complete installation hardware and instructions are included and a limited lifetime warranty protects the exhaust for the life of the vehicle.

For those customers that already own a CORSA Sport sound level Cat-Back exhaust system for 2011-2014 Ford Raptors, the company now offers a resonator delete pipe and flange kit that easily bolts onto both the 133-inch (part number #14757) and the 144-inch (part number #14758) wheelbase trucks. The resonator delete pipe significantly amplifies the exhaust note for a bolder sound.
